Autumn Werner promoted to SIMONA AMERICA Group Sustainability Manager

October 12, 2023 - SIMONA AMERICA Group is pleased to announce that Autumn Werner has been promoted to Sustainability Manager.

In her new position, Autumn will work with department managers from all three SIMONA AMERICA Group divisions as well as SIMONA AG (Germany), Sustainability department to develop and lead the U.S. approach to environmental sustainability.

With this promotion, Autumn will focus full time on the U.S. Sustainability goals, including support for CSRD reporting through SIMONA AG, energy and carbon footprint reduction projects at all 3 facilities, assisting with marketing efforts and communication of our sustainability story and product carbon footprint calculations and reductions.

Autumn brings a wealth of industry knowledge, having spent over 6 years with the company as part of the technical team as an applications engineer supporting both SIMONA AMERICA Industries and SIMONA Boltaron.

Additionally, Autumn will continue the education and monitoring of global developments around the topic of sustainability.

"I am thrilled to support Autumn in her new position. She comes with passion and the drive to learn and advance in the field of sustainability management. I am confident that her dedication will lead to success in this new role," says Samantha Stacy, Technical Director of SIMONA AMERICA Group.
