

SIMONA AMERICA Group Welcomes Annabelle Witkowski as Sustainability Program Specialist

SIMONA AMERICA Group is pleased to announce the hiring of Annabelle Witkowski as Sustainability Program Specialist. In her new role, Annabelle will support the company's sustainability strategy by coordinating initiatives, managing sustainability data and reporting efforts, and collaborating with teams across North American facilities to help advance SIMONA's environmental goals.

"I am excited to welcome Annabelle to the team as our Sustainability Program Specialist," said Autumn Werner, Director of Training & Sustainability at SIMONA AMERICA Group. "This growth reflects our continued commitment to embedding sustainability into the core of our business as it continues to shape our industry. This role will play a pivotal part in driving our impact as we continue advancing toward environmental stewardship."

In her new position, Annabelle will support sustainability reporting, coordinate emissions and Product Carbon Footprint (PCF) data collection, assist with compliance initiatives, and help drive projects focused on waste reduction, energy efficiency, and resource conservation across the organization.

"I am most looking forward to driving real impact through waste reduction, energy-saving initiatives, sustainability education, and other efforts that help strengthen our environmental performance," said Annabelle. "As our Training & Sustainability team continues to grow, I'm excited to explore new and creative ways to incorporate sustainability into our day-to-day processes while helping to reduce CO₂ emissions and supporting our long-term climate goals."

Please join us in welcoming Annabelle Witkowski to her new role with SIMONA AMERICA Group.
